PORT TOWNSEND, WA -- October 6, 2011 -- Intellicheck Mobilisa (NYSE Amex:IDN), a global leader in access control and wireless security systems, announces that it closed the third quarter of 2011 with multiple signed contracts for its government identification systems, Fugitive Finder® and Defense ID®. With $2 million in aggregate revenue this quarter, these contracts bring the total number of bases using Intellicheck Mobilisa's government identification systems to approximately 100. The company's Fugitive Finder® and Defense ID® systems offer law enforcement personnel and military security officers additional information for protecting their facilities. Utilizing IDN's patented ID-reading technology, these systems conduct instant "bad guy" checks by scanning and comparing the information contained on the ID card to over 100 databases, including the optional National Criminal Investigative Center (NCIC) database.

Steve Williams, Intellicheck Mobilisa CEO, commented: "We continue to see strong demand for our government identification products, namely Fugitive Finder and Defense ID. With approximately 100 installations having purchased these systems, this is a significant milestone for Intellicheck Mobilisa. We are very proud to announce that this was the strongest quarter in signed contracts for this product line. We think that we have just scratched the surface in terms of sales, and we look forward to updating our shareholders as we move forward."
